Reflections through the years...

With some reflection of the years that passed I just recently realised that it was over 30 years since I started my career in Travel Business and went on my first horse safari in Africa. Just to find out that something like that (riding on horse back with wild game) was at all possible to do, was unbelievable for me! I was absolutely amazed that it could be done and I could never give up the idea of organising it so that many others could share it.

Ever since then, I have kept returning to explore more of Africa and seeking for more interesting places with exceptionally beautiful nature, interesting people and fantastic riding can be enjoyed. All the time there has been new things going on, and it's almost as fun to organise it for others as it is to explore it by myself. And off course there is still more out there waiting...

Very sadly, David and his family lost the permit to ride and take guests in to Nyika in Malawi. It was one of the best (but we still have many others very similar).

I often think about what he said, and how important it is with good planning, experience, well kept animals (incl. love and respect), safe and well ridden horses and off course a great deal of common sense when arranging these kind of tours.

There will always be shortcuts and possible options (booked directly on Internet etc), and new operators will always come and go. Without mentioning risks taken when using less suitable horses, organisations without responsibilities, lacking expertise and experience, I hope that you prefer the opposite that we offer: Expertise and experience. Besides feeling safe and secure on our trips, you will know that the tours are tested and guaranteed to be well arranged.

One of my favourite places in Africa was Malawi which I visited a last time some time ago. There in the middle of wilderness, is a little river with a small waterfall next to some flat, red rocks tempting with a dip and a rest in the sun. When we rode by, our guide David told me that one of his first safari groups were taken to that spot 20 years earlier. They had ridden out and decided to have a swim and a picnic there, tied the leading horse that had the radio in the saddle bag, turned the other out to grass freely. All the sudden a big bull elephant had turned up right next to the horses – which all (in wild panic) took out direction for the stables and home 4 hours distance from there. The leading horse, off course pulled loose and joined them. Left were 7 tourists and 6 heavy saddles in the wilderness... David laughed when he told me about this and said: - back then, we didn't have a clue what we were doing. We have learned a great deal since then, about how to arrange safaris and riding in the wilderness.

With us you will always have the largest selection of the very best on the market to choose from.

We hope to hear from you very soon and get the pleasure to arrange your next riding holiday.

Ps. the love of Africa remains! We now offer (in the Nordic countries) by far the largest selection of riding holidays in Africa, now with over 45 different options. For sure there is something for every level and kind of rider!

The last few years we have a close co-operation with a partner in each country; France, England, Holland and USA. Between us we have a good 110 years of experience in our field of producing and selling riding holidays. Should you be a resident of any of these countries, you can book directly with them (we will be happy to pass you on to them). But as a resident of any Nordic country (or other country), you are welcome to find your holiday under the English version on our website. If you read and understand Swedish, you are welcome to view it in Swedish off course.

More about our fantastic co-operation that brings so many advantages to you:

Together with our partners in above 4 countries we can ensure you that we have the best riding holidays in the world. We all share a long experience of finding, producing and selling riding holidays worldwide and we share all this experience between us. We make sure our partners and guides keep their standards, as they are all very keen to keep us. The same stands for love, care respect of the horses, accommodation and food served on the tours. Between us all (5 agents), we are very clear about the high standards we expect and make sure are kept through the season. With our great net of contacts and all our visits, we can be sure about the standards and at the same time be able to offer all the news on the market!

Further we can offer benefits of sharing dates between us that we fill up in our group, witch often gives us the pleasure to offer special discounts to our clients!

Now we look forward to help You to choose one ore more (it tends to be more) of our fantastic riding holidays! Welcome to visit our website to explore more of what we can offer!

EFFICIENT HELP TO FIND THE TOUR FOR YOU!

It is very important to match the right trip and the right riding level and horse with each rider. Therefore we have 7 different levels to choose from when it comes to the experience of each rider. It is very important that the right riding level is given when booking a trip. It helps us to make each persons trip to that perfect and wonderful experience that is expected by every one on the tour.

Weight limitations occur! As a rule it is 90-95 kg as maximum weight limit on many of the rides. But under the symbol Big/Tall riders you will find many tours that can accommodate you (with big weight carrying horses).

In some trips different riding levels occur, this doesn't mean that riders with different riding experience are mixed in one group. It means that different riding levels are available/offered.

Also GOLF & AFRICA experts!
Don't forget that Greenways Travel also have over 20 years of experience in arranging Golf Holidays and safaris all over the world, in particularly South Africa, Portugal, France, Spain, Ireland and Italy. If you wish to combine Riding & Golf or only play golf on your holiday, we can tailor make the program for you! We are also specialists in pure safaris, drive around and stay on wine estates in South Africa!

To make it easier for you to find the tour that suits you best, we have divided them in different categories according to the description.

This tool is very easy to use on our website and gives you the possibility to select the places that fit in with your wishes and requests.
